

Jay Kapoor – Partner of VSC Ventures | Investor

BIOGRAPHY

Jay Kapoor is General Partner of VSC Ventures, where he invests in seed and early-stage companies and provides them with value-add on PR, Content, and Media Strategy.

Before co-founding VSC Ventures, Jay lead seed investments at early-stage funds including Launch Capital, MSG Ventures and TechStars NYC. Notable investments over his career include Alloy, Revel, and Datasembly among many others.

Prior to his career as an early-stage investor, Jay began his career working in sports and entertainment first as an investment banker, later in League Strategy and Financial Planning at the National Football League headquarters in New York.

Jay launched and co-hosts the climate Innovation focused show CLIMB by VSC where he interviews founders, experts and investors about their perspectives and best practices on company building in Climate Tech.

Jay was previously the founder and host of The Game Plan, a weekly podcast where pro athletes share key challenges and lessons in business and in life, plus how they make and invest their money both on and off the field.
