Jotham Ty - CEO & Founder of Gappify

BIOGRAPHY

Jotham Ty is the CEO of Gappify, a cloud-based provider of accrual automation solutions for corporate accountants.

Prior to Gappify, Jotham established one of the first Sarbanes-Oxley compliance practices in the San Francisco/Bay Area. With his team of former Big 4 auditors, his firm further expanded and supported large, multi-national organizations with IPO readiness, scaling domestic and international accounting operations, and upgrading and modernizing their automation environments.

Jotham is passionate about accounting technology, fascinated by astrophysics, and aspires to learn every major musical instrument. Jotham is a proud alumnus of KPMG and holds a Bachelor's degree in Accounting from Saint Mary's College of California.
