

Maggie Philbin – Communications Veteran

BIOGRAPHY

Maggie has over a decade of experience in strategic communications for companies spanning retail operations, venture capital, financial services, connected fitness, education technology and more. She has worked on hundreds of campaigns for early-stage, high-growth companies earning them visibility in top-tier publications like the Today Show, New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Bloomberg TV, Yahoo Finance, Fast Company, CNBC, and Fox TV and more. She has earned her client's recognition within their industry, including CBInsights AI 100, CNBC's Disruptor 50 list, CNBC Upstart 25, Fast Company's "Most Innovative Companies" list, and Entrepreneur's "Most Brilliant Companies" list. Her work is regularly seen on CNN, CNBC Power Lunch, TechCrunch, WWD, and more. Recently, Maggie was named Top Women in Communications in 2022 by PR Daily and Woman of the Year by GLOBEE® in 2021 for her work leveraging connections during pandemic, bringing necessary PPE to Navajo Nation. Previously, she was recognized by the Business Journals as a 30 under 30 and she holds onto hope that she'll be recognized as a 40 under 40 before her time clock expires.
